The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) in Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park

Tuesday March 1st at 7:00 pm
Kīlauea Visitor Center Auditorium

The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) was a successful federal job program initiated by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in response to the Great Depression. From 1933 – 1942, the young men of the CCC built much of the infrastructure seen today in National Parks across the country, including Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park. From historic buildings to erosion control features to many of the constructed road features found along the iconic Crater Rim Drive, the legacy of the CCC lives on. Join archeologist Summer Roper and supervisory park ranger Andrea Kaawaloa-Okita as they reveal key accomplishments of the CCC and glimpse into a window of what life was like during this era of hope.
